WHO WILL SPEAK FOR THEM IF YOU CAN'T?

- The Autism & Special Needs form provides emergency responders with fast and accurate information to properly and safely help your loved ones.
- Having accurate and timely information is extremely important in an emergency
- In many emergency situations, the stress and anxiety caused by the emergency overwhelm the patient or family member's ability to provide accurate information.
- Treatments that emergency responders and hospital personnel provide can be significantly influenced by your medical history, allergies, and medications you take.
