What Are My Next Steps?

Additional Information May Be Needed

After you apply, sometimes FEMA will need additional information like an insurance settlement, copy of a receipt for disaster costs, or documents that confirm your identity and where you live.

Look for the section labeled “Your Next Steps” to see which documents FEMA needs from you and where you upload those documents.

The screenshot shows the FEMA Application Status Tracker interface. At the top, it displays the Application ID: 81-0249760 and Disaster Number: 4811. Below this is the title "Your Application Status" with a "Help for this page" link. A section titled "Details about your application are below." is followed by "How to find information:" which lists: "Your Next Steps" (documents needed), "FEMA Assistance" (actions from FEMA), "Check Marks" (completed items), and "Scroll down" (to find details). It also mentions checking the progress bar. Below this is the "Your Next Steps" section with two items: "Send Vehicle Documentation to FEMA" and "Send Dental Documents", each with a "more info" link.

If you are having problems with uploading your documents, there are a few other ways to do that.

☐ Send your documents by regular mail to:
P.O. Box 10055 Attn: FEMA
Hyattsville, MD 20782-8055

☐ Fax your documents to 1-800-827-8112. You must include a cover sheet.

Include your name, the last four digits of your social security number, your FEMA Application Number xxx-xxxx-xx and the FEMA Disaster Number: DR-4933-IN on all pages.

My Status has Not Moved Forward, What Can I Do?

If your account status has not changed or is “Pending”, double-check Your Next Steps to ensure you haven’t missed anything. An “Under Review” status on your account can mean several different things. You may also call 800-621-3362 and ask if you need to submit any other documentation.

Pending Inspection:

- Your home hasn’t been inspected yet. Answer the inspector’s call to schedule.

Case is waiting to be Reviewed:

- Your documentation has been received and is waiting to be reviewed. Once reviewed your status will be updated.

Additional Documentation is Needed:

- You need to send additional information to help FEMA understand your situation.
 - If additional documentation is needed, you will receive a prompt detailing the specific documents required for verification, which can be easily uploaded.
 - Any additional documentation will prompt another review, moving your case forward.

FEMA Decisions and Appeals

If you are approved for FEMA assistance, the tracker will show the amount and what it can be used for.

If you disagree with FEMA’s decision, you can appeal the decision. Appeal instructions and forms are included in the documentation FEMA sent to you. Read it carefully to see what it is you need to do. You can use the Upload Center in the Status Tracker to submit additional documents like repair estimates, repair bills or lodging receipts. Then we will take another look at your case.
